CHAPTER 1: Introduction

- Background of the Study
- Statement of the Problem
- Rationale
- Definition of Terms
- Objectives
- Aim of the Study
- Research Questions
- Scope & Delimitations
- Role of the Researcherⁱ
- Study Assumptions
- Significance of the study

Chapter Synthesis (Summary)

CHAPTER 2: Review of Related Literature

- Literature research strategy
- Literature review related to the key concepts, factors & variables of the study
- Literature review related to the methods used to investigate the topic

Chapter Synthesis (Summary)

CHAPTER 3: Theoretical Background

- Theoretical or Conceptual Premise
- Operational Frameworkⁱⁱ

Chapter Synthesis (Summary)

CHAPTER 4: Research Design & Methods

- Research Design

- Data Collection Procedures & Instruments
 - Population Characteristics
 - Data Analysis Guide
 - Validity & Reliability Procedures
- Chapter Synthesis (Summary)*

Chapter 5: Data Analysis & Presentationⁱⁱⁱ

- Quantitative analysis: descriptive & inferential statistics
 - Qualitative analysis : descriptive and content/thematic analysis
- Chapter Synthesis (Summary)*

Chapter 6: Discussion, Implications & Conclusions

- Key findings summary
 - Interpretation of the findings according to the Literature & Theoretical Framework
 - Implications
 - Recommendations for Practice & Future Research
 - Limitations of the Study
 - Conclusions
- Chapter Synthesis (Summary)*

Appendices

ⁱ Optional, required if the researcher has a dual role: both researcher and a professional relationship (in the past or current) with the research site.

ⁱⁱ In this section it should be clearly demonstrated how the selected theoretical or/and conceptual framework guides the research questions and how it can be used to interpret the potential results of the study.

ⁱⁱⁱ The data analysis and presentation should be done per research question. In addition, in this chapter the results are only presented and not discussed or interpreted according to the literature and the theoretical framework (this will be done in Chapter 6).
